OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars o' a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 23, 1862.

The Vancouver Entanglement.

On Wednesday of last week we were presented with a communication by Judge Page, signed by T. H. Smith of Vancouver, for publication. It purported to be a defense of himself against certain charges that had been published in which he was named. Judge Page informed us, in substance, that if the Oregonian and Times did not publish the communication, it would be given to the Advertiser, and its publication in that paper would be paid for, if it was considered by the editors too long to be published without pay. We were willing it should take that direction—as the Advertiser is the proper organ of the secesh party.

With regard to Mr. Smith's paper, we will say that it is a very weak affair. He gives two affidavits by a couple of his considerate friends, who kindly say in his behalf that they never heard him express his opinion that the killing of ten thousand Yankees would put a stop to the war and cause the adoption by Congress of the Crittenden Compromise. [More of this hereafter.] The recollections of these affidavit men are entirely blank in regard to disloyal sentiments uttered by Mr. Smith. They remind us of a singular evidence brought to prove the purity of one Queen Charlotte, whose constant answer to all questions was—"Non mi recordo." There are others about Vancouver whose recollections are vivid, and whose word is fully equal to that of any Bergami in the past or in the present. No one desires to do Mr. Smith injustice in this matter, and we apprehend it is the justice part he would be most likely to complain of.

Mr. Smith published some extraordinary news in regard to the part he played in the late election. He tells the people that he was not a candidate: that he made public this fact; adding that he would not serve as a Councilman if elected. This is exceedingly rich. We have not heard any thing that equals it. A. J. Lawrence, who in the present case kindly swears for Mr. Smith, and H. G. Struve, equally a political and personal friend of his, caused the proceedings of the secesh meeting at Vancouver, nominating said Smith, to be published in one of our city papers; the same gentlemen got tickets printed on which was the name of the said Smith, as a candidate for Councilman; same considerate gentlemen ornamented that paper of undying glories, the Morning Glory, with the name of the said Smith as a candidate; and farther, the said H. G. Struve, of Morning Glory memory, undertook to trade off and withdraw said Smith from the canvass, provided Mr. Cochrane, the Union candidate, would agree to certain conditions; and to add to all this array of facts proving that said Smith was a candidate, another remarkable fact stands out—that of the one hundred and fifty men who voted for Smith in Clarke county, and of the hundred or more in Cowlitz county who gave him their votes, not one had heard that Smith was any thing else than the genuine secesh candidate for Councilman.

If it was true that Smith was not a candidate, we are presented a series of most extraordinary circumstances proving the contrary. We once heard a Frenchman, after he had listened to a wonderful story from one whom he had considered a very reputable gentleman, respond: "I must believe this for politeness sake; but I think it is a d—n lie!" Charity induces us to believe that in the encounter in which Smith precipitated himself on Friday previous to the election, he received a tap on the head where the brains should be, which softened, if it did not entirely destroy the organ of conscientiousness.

Mr. Smith thanks the people of Clarke county for the handsome vote they gave him—which included every secesh vote in the county—and which secured him a very handsome defeat. This must, indeed, be quite flattering to him, in a county that had hitherto been strongly in his favor. In tendering these thanks, he reminds one of a character in Milton's works—a chap who "grinned possibly a ghastly smile."

We honestly advise Mr. Smith to write no more for the newspapers.

It may trouble some persons, nevertheless the fact will be demonstrated always hereafter, that men who avowed sympathy with the rebels while the Union troops were flying before them, as at Bull Run, who rejoiced at the success of the rebels and justified the rebellion, we say that it will always be demonstrated that such men cannot become candidates for office under the glorious Government they wished to see destroyed, without an effort being made to overthrow them by the votes of a patriotic people. This has been done in Oregon (glory to her!); in California, (blessings upon our sister State) and will be done by our rising sister, Washington Territory.

Arrival of the Hunt.—The Wilson G. Hunt arrived last evening at half-past seven, from the Cascades, with about 175 passengers and over $200,000 in gold dust. Wells, Fargo & Co. brought down about three hundred pounds, and a very large amount was supposed to be in hands of passengers, scarcely one of whom seemed to be strapped, while several had all they could well carry. We are indebted to each of the Express companies for favors; also to gentlemanly Purser, Mr. Wyman, of steamer Hunt, from whom we learn that the steamer Tenino met with an accident near Walla Walla, while on her way down last Saturday. She was detained until Monday morning, when she came down to Deschutes, at which place she is undergoing repairs, and will probably be in running order in a day or two.

An affray occurred at Walla Walla, Saturday evening last, in which two men were shot and killed, growing out of a row between gamblers. Did not learn their names. The news from the mines, and more particularly John Day's and Powder rivers, is still very encouraging: large numbers of miners are flocking into these places, and the yield is said to be very flattering. We have received several lengthy communications, which will appear in our issue of to-morrow and next day—being too lengthy for one issue. These correspondence contain many interesting facts, and will prove worthy of perusal.

Election in Washington Territory.—From the Walla Walla Statesman of July 19th, we learn that Messrs. N. Northrup, S. D. Smith, and H. M. Chase have been elected to the Legislature from Walla Walla county.

By private letter to a gentleman in this city, we also learn that the whole Union ticket was elected in Shoshone county by a handsome majority. S. S. Slater, A. B. Andrews and James Orr are the Representatives from this county.

By correspondence which will appear as soon as we can find room, we learn that the Union Democratic ticket is probably elected in Nez Perces and Idaho counties, by a small majority.

We have learned that several politicians of Clarke county, in our neighboring Territory, are very anxious to set themselves (as they give out) right before the people; and for this purpose desire to see themselves in print. We commend them to the editor of the Morning Glory, who would doubtless, for a consideration, get up another number of that inimitable sheet for their benefit. We respectfully suggest this course—as it might lead to the publication of a new edition of the Recorder, a terrible paper—which has yet some strong documents, as we understand, on hand, certified by a duly authorized Justice of the Peace, which the public would like to see.

We learn from above that the people in the mines are very anxious that the contracts for carrying the mails on the new routes authorized by law—(and which were provided by the indefatigueable labors of Col. Wallace)—should be given out, and the mail transportation promptly put into operation. These mails will greatly benefit the upper country.

Keep doing so.—We received a communication, last evening, from a friend at Salmon river, who sealed his letter with a large spot of gum sprinkled with gold dust. A novel yet sensible way of doing, and we hope he will keep it up.

San Francisco, July 15.—About 9 o'clock last evening at the Overland stage office Robert Noblett, agent of the San Jose Stage Line, was seriously stabbed by Edward Stevens, formerly agent of the Overland Stage Company at Fort Yuma. Discussion, which led to the difficulty, at first political, criticizing the acts of Senators Latham and Gwin, but at last became personal, when Noblett is said to have made use of the lie. Stevens, having his pocket knife in his hand, raised it and cut a bad gash over Noblett's forehead and down the left cheek, than stabbed him again in the neck, the blade coming within one sixteenth of an inch of the jugular vein. At 12 o'clock to-day the doctors in attendance pronounced lock-jaw setting in. Stevens was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,500 this afternoon.

Lieut. A. C. Sheldon, Quartermaster of a Regiment of Washington Territory Volunteers, absconded on the steamer with $1,500 Government funds. He will be arrested on his arrival at New York.

Markets for every article are greatly excited under Eastern advices; tobacco seems to be the chief attraction, the poorest quality being held firmly at 85 and 90 cents per pound.

Washington, July 15.—The Committee of Ways and Means have a recommendation before them urging the necessity of Congressional legislation to relieve the specie market. No action has been taken by the Committee upon the subject, but it is known that some of the members are opposed to the project, preferring to leave the matter to take care of itself. Others favor the issuing of Treasury notes of the denomination of $2.50.

Portland, July 15.—The State of Maine has decided to pay a bounty of $30 for each recruit mustered into the service of the United States in the new regiments, and $15 in the old ones.

Seamen are so scarce that the Navy Department is obliged to take negroes, in order to work the vessels.

By Overland Telegraph.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Yreka, July 18—8 P. M.

Memphis, July 14.—Gen. Curtis' entire command reached Helena, (Ark.) on the 4th. While the 11th Illinois regiment was coming down White river, they were fired upon by guerrillas seven miles below Grand Gauge.—Our troops returned the fire killing 19; the rest fled. On the 11th Gen. Curtis' advance, consisting of two regiments, was attacked by two regiments of rebel cavalry and a large force of infantry. After a sharp engagement the rebel cavalry broke and rode through their own infantry, throwing them into great confusion, the fight terminating in a rout. We took a large number of prisoners, but afterwards released them on parole. Ten rebels were buried on the field; our loss was 8 killed and 3 wounded.

The rebels had no artillery which accounts for their heavy loss compared with ours.—Shell and canister from our howitzers did terrible execution. Curtis' army is in good condition, notwithstanding short rations, long marches, &c. When they arrived at Helena they had only three days supplies.

Lexington, Ky., July 15th.—The city is under martial law. Able bodied citizens in Lexington and Fayette Counties are ordered to report themselves at Court-House square forthwith.

Information, considered reliable, says that Morgan, with the greater part of his force, is at Versailles, 15 miles distant.

Frankfort, July 14th.—Morgan, with 1,500 men, crossed the Kentucky River at Shyrock's Ferry yesterday, en route for Versailles.

There is a sufficient force at Frankfort and Lexington to protect both places.

Washington, July 16th.—The following is the text of sections in the drafting bill relative to negroes, which passed the Senate yesterday: "The President is hereby authorized to receive into the service of the United States for the construction of entrenchments and the performing of camp service for which it may be found expedient to use persons of African descent. Such persons shall be enrolled and organized under such regulations not inconsistent with the laws and Constitution.

When any man or boy of African descent who, by the laws of any State shall owe service or labor to any person, who, during the present rebellion has borne arms against the United States or given aid and comfort to the enemy, shall perform service as provided for in this Act, his family forever shall be free, any law to the contrary notwithstanding. Persons of African descent, under this law, shall receive $10 per month and one ration.

The Senate yesterday passed a drafting bill by which the President was authorized to call out the entire military force of the country for a term not exceeding nine months. The bill also provides for the use of slaves of rebels, and giving them freedom in consequence of service.

The Border State representatives have agreed in a reply to the President on the emancipation plan; it is represented as temperate and respectful,—but they cannot, for reasons stated, endorse his policy, and believe the declaration of States to act upon and adopt, will prolong the war; will recommend their States to give respectful consideration, but in no way commit themselves to its support. Their reply was withheld until it was known which course would be adopted by the President on the confiscation bill.

The rebels have entirely forsaken the front of our army before Richmond. None can be seen within several miles. The opinion is that they will soon be heard from in another quarter.

Water has been let in the canal at Vicksburg, but as yet anticipations that the current will soon make its way through have not been realized.

The report of the capture of Baton Rouge is probably correct, but it is not possible for Van Dorn to hold it.

Washington, July 14.—It is stated that orders are about being issued reducing the term of enlistment of the 300,000 volunteers from three years to one year. The calculation is that the rebellion will be crushed in less than one year. It is intimated, on the authority of a distinguished Senator, that the President will speedily issue a proclamation offering an amnesty to the rebels in arms in the border States, and announcing that the offer will be extended from time to time to other States, as the progress of subduing the rebellion may warrant.

The Senate passed a bill to-day admitting Western Virginia into the Union.

Boston, July 15.—Both branches of the city government passed a bill appropriating $300,000 from the city treasury, to be expended for the payment of bounties and other expenses in raising the State's quota of troops under the recent call.

Philadelphia, July 15.—Rumors are in circulation that a mutiny had broken out among the rebel prisoners at Fort Delaware, numbering 3,000, and that 25 of them were shot before it could be quelled. The telegraph is out of order, and consequently nothing can be obtained as to the truth of the report.

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

THE DAILY OREGONIAN may be had at the Franklin Book Store, and at Charles Barrett's, Front street.

ESCAPED.—A bold attempt to escape was made yesterday morning by eight of the Penitentiary convicts in this city. The guard, three in number, had just led them out to their accustomed daily labor, near the brick yard, in the southern portion of the city, and two of the guard having gone a few paces further on into the woods to take their station as watch, the third one was in the act of giving directions to some of the party what work to commence at first, when four or five suddenly fell upon him and succeeded in disarming and disabling him from pursuit, and the whole party then made a break for the woods. The two guards on watch immediately gave chase, firing at some of them as they ran, and as they were somewhat encumbered with shackles, the guard succeeded in re-capturing six of the eight, two making good their escape. Bob Barry, the most noted scamp among the party, was shot in the arm, but not dangerously wounded. The two convicts that escaped are: An Indian, about five feet four inches high, small eyes, weighs about 135 or 140 pounds, and is about twenty years of age; had on a pair of white duck pants and felt hat. The other, an American by birth, is stout built, five feet eight inches high, eyes large and full, aged twenty-five years, and weighs 165 pounds; had on brown pants, hickory shirt and black hat, and took with him a single-barrel shot gun, barrel very bright, which was taken from the guard.—$100 reward has been offered for their apprehension, or $50 for either one.

SIDE WALKS.—By Ordinance of City Council, published in yesterday morning's Oregonian, it will be seen that the owners of all lots abutting on both sides of Washington street, between Second and Park streets, are required on or before the first day of October next to grade and lay side-walks 10 feet in width upon each side of said street, and good crossings of timber or plank at each of the streets running at right angles. We hail this as a good move, and hope it will not alone be confined to Washington street, but that several others of the most important streets shall soon be improved in like manner. Good substantial side-walks are much needed in many portions, besides other considerable improvements of center of streets. Keep doing so.

THEATRE.—The Willamette Theatre building has been considerably improved and refitted, and the new troupe under charge of Messrs. Potter & Bell, will open to-night, with the new and beautiful Comic Drama of "A Wonderful Woman," never before played in this city. We have reason to believe that the performances of this troupe will be every way superior to any other company that has visited our city, and we bespeak for them full houses and liberal patronage by an appreciative community.

SAILED.—The steamship Sierra Nevada sailed yesterday morning, about ten o'clock, direct for San Francisco, taking some three hundred passengers, a majority of whom were from Victoria. Several of the citizens of Portland were also on board, some for the Bay City, and others for the Atlantic States on a home tour, but all intend to return eventually. About $250,000 in treasure was shipped, most of which was in gold bars.

LEGITIMATE.—A real live nigger show is to come off at the Gymnasium Hall Thursday evening next, in which two "gentlemen of color" will appear in their true character, without the aid of charcoal, and give an entertainment of "Ethiopian eccentricies," which is confidently believed will lay Max Irwin, "or any other man" in the shade.

DECIDEDLY HOT.—Yesterday was by all odds the hottest day of the season, the thermometer standing ninety degrees in a cool place. We saw more than one panting in the shade, while ice-cream, "smashes," soda and lager, were freely consumed. We occasionally cast a wistful look towards old Mount Hood, and imagined how we could have enjoyed a cooling drink from its snow-capped summit.

"NOT ON IT."—The "reporter" for the Oregonian has no occasion to be "on hand" at the camp of siwash tillicums; hence, if his friend of the Advertiser wants to visit such places, he will have to go alone. Still, one would reasonably suppose that the "local" of that paper had already visited such places sufficient to have acquired considerable proficiency in the art of mesachie cultus wawa, without needing an interpreter.

MERRY.—We presume quite a merry and equally mellow time was had at the Garden Field resort, Monday night, judging from the noise made by several while coming home about two o'clock, A. M.

DAILY PAPER.—We learn from a friend at the Dalles that there is a rumor going the rounds that Nowell, of the Mountaineer, contemplates starting a daily paper in that city, shortly. If so, we wish him success.

AFFRAY.—An affray occurred about midnight on the 19th, at Deschutes, in which one man was badly cut and another shot. Neither of them is expected to live. It is said that whisky and gambling was the cause of the row.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.—A couple of horses attached to a wagon took a furious race round the public square, yesterday morning, completely smashing wagon and doing other damage, though no one hurt that we know of.

G. H. Woodman has been arrested and convicted in Mendocino county, California, for kidnapping young Indians. When arrested he had fifteen of them in his possession, and was on his way to the "Valley" to dispose of them.

WHAT NEXT?—Mr. J. McNamee, of Easton, Pa., has invented and very recently taken out a patent for an indicator and register of drinks and cigars, to be used at the bars of hotels and drinking restaurants, to detect bar-keepers who are dishonestly inclined.

DROWNED.—We learn from the Marysville Appeal that a son of A. C. Russell, formerly editor of the Times, was drowned at Stockton on the 11th inst.

A Close Calculation.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati T[illegible] with the [illegible] army writes as follows:

On my upward trip [illegible] giant looking [illegible] it only indicated that he was [illegible] from a hospital, but that [illegible] perhaps have been better for him [illegible] still [illegible] condition to [illegible] Ohio, and by his [illegible] He was full of [illegible] culiar zest [illegible] specimen of the [illegible]

"How long were you in the hospital?"

"I stood it [illegible] five days. I couldn't stand it any longer."

"Why so? Were you not well treated?"

"Well, yes [illegible] when I went in there were six patients. The first day they buried one."

"Well, what of that?"

"Nothing, only the next day they buried another."

They must have been severe cases, and made it very unpleasant for you.

"D—d unpleasant. I knew my turn would come in time. I went in on Monday, and if I stand I would be carried out on Saturday. So I made my [illegible] on Friday I packed my knapsack and went away. If I had not I'd surely been buried on Saturday. Six days, one man each day. I could not stand that."

Disturbing an Orator.—The Corinth correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette tells this story:

When our lines advanced towards Corinth on May 28th a battery was planted on an eminence commanding a considerable portion of the country, but completely shaded from view by a dense thicket. Scouts were sent out to discover the exact position of the rebels, and were but a short distance in advance to give a signal as to the direction to fire if any were discovered.

One of the rebel commanders unaware of our presence, called around him a brigade and commenced addressing them in something like the following strain:

"Sons of the South! We are here to defend our homes, our wives and daughters, against the horde of Vandals who have come here to possess the first and violate the last. Here, upon this sacred soil, we have assembled to drive back the Northern invaders—drive them into the Tennessee. Will you follow me? If we cannot hold this place we can defend no spot of our Confederacy. Shall we drive the invaders back, and strike to death the men who would desecrate our homes? Is there a man so base among those who hear me as to retreat from the contemptible foe before us? I will never blanch before their fire nor—"

At this interesting period the signal was given, and six shells fell in the vicinity of the gallant officer and his men, who suddenly forgot their holy resolves, and fled in confusion to their breastworks.

Wounded Soldiers.—One of the surgeons at the Park Hospital reports the case of a wounded soldier, which is rather remarkable. The ball entered the right cheek, passed through the head, and came out at the left temple, destroying the left eye. The patient suffered but little pain, and has recovered sufficiently to be able to go home.

Another singular case is that of a man who was wounded by a ball passing through the left arm, at the battle of Bull Run. He was confined at the hospital several weeks, but returned to his regiment in time to participate in the fight at Ball's Bluff, in which conflict he escaped uninjured. At the battle of Fair Oaks he was wounded in the arm, the ball passing within an inch of the scar received at Bull Run. He was also wounded in the leg. He declares he had as lief fight as eat his breakfast."

A soldier who was wounded and taken prisoner, and who remained on the field over a day without attention from the rebel surgeons, states that he was visited by a person in citizen's dress, who tenderly washed and dressed his wounds. "He must have been a Union man," remarked an informant. "No, he was not," replied the soldier, "for although a tear was in his eye, he kept calling me a d—d Yankee."

Increase of Population in New York City.—Notwithstanding the immense number of men that have left New York in the service of their country, and the breaking up and scattering of families since the national troubles begun, there has been an increase of population, as is proved by Trow's Directory for this year, just issued. In last year's directory there were 172,825 names, this year, 154,186. This is contrary to the anticipations of some of the shrewdest calculators. Indeed, it has been generally expected that the directory statistics would show a decrease of population. Perhaps no other large city will show a gain. What a striking contrast to the partial depopulation of some of the cities of Secessia! Instead of losing trade, and general stagnation of business by the war, it has only affected some particular branches temporarily, while the great current of foreign and domestic commerce has flowed on in full channels, and even with a great falling off in immigration from Europe our city population has increased.—Tribune.

Ten Thousand Dollar Butler.—Several rebel journals are urging the assassination of Gen. Butler, whom they denounce by every epithet as one of the [illegible] of mankind, simply on account of his order directing that women who should [illegible] insult Union soldiers in the [illegible] should be confined in the city [illegible] in the same manner as a local statute provides for the treatment of women of the town. When he first reached New Orleans they called him Picayune Butler; now they [illegible] his head, and he shall [illegible] Ten Thousand Dollar Butler.—Marysville Appeal.

The body of M[illegible], drowned in the Willamette two miles above Eugene City on the 4th, was found [illegible] accident.

A drove of six hundred head of mutton sheep passed through [illegible] for the Powder river, by the McKenzie wagon road.

Why are Secessionists like turkeys? Because when their necks are [illegible] there will be a general thanksgiving day.

[illegible] Mr. Daly [illegible] in Congress [illegible] roar of laughter [illegible] the familiar lines:

[illegible]

But Mr. Daly was more nearly right than the laughing crowd imagined, as we will show by a story.

When the Old School Presbyterian General Assembly were preparing a hymn book, [illegible] in Philadelphia. The work [illegible] Committee [illegible] the well known [illegible] One member [illegible]

[illegible] that while the lamp of life holds out to burn the vilest sinner may return, whereas we all know it is not time, for many sinners are abandoned of God, given over to perdition and [illegible] to destruction before they cease to live. [illegible] moved to strike out these two lines, and [illegible] the first two of the next verse, making one verse of the two, and avoid the heresy [illegible] that every sinner is within the reach of [illegible] as long as he lives. The Assembly heard the criticism [illegible] and without any [illegible] forthwith voted out the objectionable lines.

A few minutes afterwards the Rev. [illegible] J. Breckinridge, D. D., came into the House, and the writer of this, who was [illegible] mentioned to him the singular step the Assembly had taken. "Why, they have stricken out the words of God himself," said Dr. Breckinridge, and immediately rising he called the attention of the House to the fact that the hymn in question is a beautiful paraphrase on the ninth chapter of Ecclesiastes, and that the obnoxious lines are another form of stating the divine declaration, "To him that is joined to all the living there is hope." The Assembly saw its error, and restored the lines instanter. Mr. Daly was, therefore, not out of the way when he quoted from the hymn book and gave credit to the Bible.—N. Y. [illegible]

The people of Lane county are busy [illegible] the McKenzie wagon road over the Cascades to the head of Deschutes. The work has progressed several miles into the mountains.

A Close Calculation.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times with the Fremont army, writes as follows

On my upward trip we had on board a tall, gaunt looking volunteer, whose appearance not only indicated that he was lately from a hospital, but that it would perhaps have been better for him to have remained there still for he certainly did not seem to be in a fit condition to travel. He was from Eastern Ohio, and by some strange whim of his comrades (soldiers have odd notions as to names) he had won the cognomen of "Beauregard." He was full of dry humor, and it had a peculiar zest, coming from such a dilapidated specimen of the human kind. I asked him

"How long were you in the hospital at [illegible]?"

"I staid just five days, I couldn't stand it any longer."

"Why so? Were you not well treated?"

"Well, you see, when I went in there were six patients. The first day they buried one."

When he first reached New Orleans they called him Picayune Butler; now they offer $10,000 for his head, and he should be called Ten Thousand Dollar Butler.—Marysville Appeal

The body of McFern, drowned in the Willamette two miles above Eugene City on the 4th, was found recently near the place of accident.

A drove of six hundred head of mutton sheep passed through Eugene, bound to Powder river, by the McKenzie's wagon road.

Why are Secessionists like turkeys? Because when their necks are stretched there will be a general Thanksgiving Day.

Quoting Scripture in Congress.—Mr. Daly, in Congress the other day, set the House into a roar of laughter by quoting as from the Bible the familiar lines—

> And while the lamp holds out to burn
> The vilest sinner may return.

But Mr Daly was more nearly right than the laughing members imagined, as we will show by a story.

When the Old School Presbyterian General Assembly were preparing a hymn book, it was brought before the body for adoption at its meeting in Philadelphia. The work of the Committee was vigorously criticised, and various amendments proposed and some of which were adopted, hymns modified or rejected at the will of a couple of hundred of song menders. One member assailed the hymn beginning

> "Life is the time to serve the Lord."

He said it teaches false doctrine, that while the lamp of life holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return; whereas we all know it is not true, for many sinners are abandoned of God, given over to perdition and sealed to destruction before they cease to breathe. He moved to strike out these two lines, and also the first two of the next verse, making one verse of the two, and avoid the heresy of teaching that every sinner is within the reach of mercy as long as he lives. The Assembly heard the criticism, were convinced of its soundness, and without any ado forthwith voted out the objectionable lines.

MARYSVILLE, June 24, 18[illegible]

Dr. L. J. Czapkay, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the [illegible] of your medicine and do not think I shall need any [illegible] except that I have not entirely [illegible] with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute with my [illegible] as I thought, both entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and trembling [illegible] thing. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and [illegible] from my [illegible] and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire [illegible] those emissions which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest [illegible] my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

I inclose I send you twenty dollars over your [illegible] and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited you may put this letter in the newspapers. Remain gratefully yours,

THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the Incentive to gratitude.

Czapkay:—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to [illegible] the public a case which deserves commendation not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago I suddenly, and from [illegible] was seized with a fit of [illegible] which owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the [illegible] I met with on attempting it, soon became [illegible] as to defy the skill of any physician. THE FURNITURE and FIXTURES in the UMATILLA HOUSE at the Dalles. The House [illegible] in Oregon! [illegible] will dispose of their interest in this [illegible]

PLUMMER & RILEY,
Umatilla House Dalles Oregon

A Close Calculation.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times, with the Fremont army, writes as follows:

On my upward trip we had on board a tall, gaunt looking volunteer, whose appearance not only indicated that he was lately from a hospital, but that it would perhaps have been better for him to have remained there still, for he certainly did not seem to be in a fit condition to travel. He was from Eastern Ohio, and by some strange whim of his comrades (soldiers have odd notions as to names) he had won the cognomen of "Beauregard." He was full of dry humor, and it had a peculiar zest, coming from such a dilapidated specimen of the human kind. I asked him:

"How long were you in the hospital at ——?"

"I staid just five days; I couldn't stand it any longer."

"Why so? Were you not well treated?"

"Well, you see, when I went in there were six patients. The first day they buried one."

"Well, what of that?"

"Nothing—only the next day they buried another."

"They must have been severe cases, and made it very unpleasant for you?"

"D—d unpleasant—I knew my turn would come in time. I went in on Monday, and it I staid I would be carried out on Saturday. So I made my calculation, and on Friday I packed my knapsack and went away. If I had not I'd surely been buried on Saturday. Six days, one man each day. I couldn't stand that."

Disturbing an Orator.—The Corinth correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette tells this story:

When our lines advanced towards Corinth on May 28th a battery was planted on an eminence commanding a considerable portion of the country, but completely shaded from view by a dense thicket. Scouts were sent out to discover the exact position of the rebels, and were but a short distance in advance, to give a signal as to the direction to fire, if any wore discovered.

One of the rebel commanders, unaware of our presence, called around him a brigade and commenced addressing them in something like the following strain:

"Sons of the South: We are here to defend our homes, our wives and daughters, against the horde of Vandals who have come here to possess the first and violate the last. Here, upon this sacred soil, we have assembled to drive back the Northern invaders—drive them into the Tennessee. Will you follow me? If we cannot hold this place we can defend no spot of our Confederacy. Shall we drive the invaders back, and strike to death the men who would desecrate our homes? Is there a man so base among those who hear me as to retreat from the contemptible foe before us? I will never blanch before their fire, nor ——"

At this interesting period the signal was given, and six shells fell in the vicinity of the gallant officer and his men, who suddenly forgot their fiery resolves, and fled in confusion to their breastworks.

Wounded Soldiers.—One of the surgeons at the Park Hospital reports the case of a wounded soldier, which is rather remarkable. The ball entered the right cheek, passed through the head, and came out at the left temple, destroying the left eye. The patient suffered but little pain, and has recovered sufficiently to be able to go home.

Another singular case is that of a man who was wounded by a ball passing through the left arm at the battle of Bull Run. He was confined at the hospital several weeks, but returned to his regiment in time to participate in the fight at Ball's Bluff, in which conflict he escaped uninjured. At the battle of Fair Oaks he was wounded in the arm, the ball passing within an inch of the scar received at Bull Run. He was also wounded in the leg. He declares he had as "lief fight as eat his breakfast."

A soldier who was wounded and taken prisoner, and who remained on the field over a day without attention from the rebel surgeons, states that he was visited by a person in citizen's dress, who tenderly washed and dressed his wounds. "He must have been a Union man," remarked our informant. "No, he was not," replied the soldier, "for, although a tear was in his eye, he kept calling me a d—d Yankee."

Increase of Population in New York City.—Notwithstanding the immense number of men that have left New York in the service of their country, and the breaking up and scattering of families since the national troubles begun, there has been an increase of population, as is proved by Trow's Directory for this year, just issued. In last year's directory there were 152,825 names; this year, 153,186. This is contrary to the anticipations of some of the shrewdest calculators. Indeed, it has been generally expected that the directory statistics would show a decrease of population. Perhaps no other large city will show a gain. What a striking contrast to the partial depopulation of some of the cities of Secessia! Instead of losing trade, and general stagnation of business by the war, it has only affected some particular branches temporarily, while the great current of foreign and domestic commerce has flowed on in full channels, and even with a great falling off in immigration from Europe, our city population has increased.—Tribune.

Ten Thousand Dollar Butler.—Several rebel journals are urging the assassination of Gen. Butler, whom they denounce by every epithet as one of the basest of mankind, simply on account of his order directing that women who should so far forget their sex as to insult Union soldiers in the street should be confined in the city calaboose, in the same manner as a local statute provides for the treatment of women of the town. When he first reached New Orleans they called him Picayune Butler; now they offer $10,000 for his head, and he should be called Ten Thousand Dollar Butler.—Marysville Appeal.

The body of McFern, drowned in the Willamette two miles above Eugene City, on the 4th, was found recently near the place of accident.

A drove of six hundred head of mutton sheep passed through Eugene, bound to Powder river, by the McKenzie's wagon road.

Why are Secessionists like turkeys? Because when their necks are stretched, there will be a general Thanksgiving Day.

Quoting Scripture in Congress.—Mr. Daly, in Congress, the other day, set the House into a roar of laughter by quoting as from the Bible the familiar lines:

> "And while the lamp holds out to burn,
> The vilest sinner may return."

But Mr. Daly was more nearly right than the laughing members imagined, as we will show by a story.

When the Old School Presbyterian General Assembly were prepairing a hymn book, it was brought before the body for adoption, at its meeting in Philadelphia. The work of the Committee was vigorously criticised, and various amendments proposed and some of which were adopted; hymns modified or rejected at the will of a couple of a hundred of song menders. One member assailed the hymn beginning:

> "Life is the time to serve the Lord."

He said it teaches false doctrine, that while the lamp of life holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return; whereas we all know it is not time, for many sinners are abandoned of God, given over to perdition and sealed to destruction before they cease to breathe. He moved to strike out these two lines, and also the first two of the next verse, making one verse of the two, and avoid the heresy of teaching that every sinner is within the reach of mercy as long as he lives. The Assembly heard the criticism, were convinced of its soundness, and without any ado forthwith voted out the objectionable lines.

A few minutes afterwards the Rev. Robert J. Breckinridge, D. D., came into the House, and the writer of this, who was not a member, mentioned to him the singular steps the Assembly had taken. "Why, they have stricken out the words of God himself," said Dr. Breckinridge, and immediately rising, he called the attention of the House to the fact that the hymn in question is a beautiful paraphrase on the ninth chapter of Ecclesiastes, and the obnoxious lines are another form of starting the divine declaration, "To him that is joined to all the living, there is hope." The Assembly saw its error, and resored the lines instanter. Mr. Daly was, therefore, not out of the way when he quoted from the hymn-book, and gave credit to the Bible.—N. Y. Observer.

The people of Lane county are busy opening the McKenzie wagon road over the Cascades to the head of Deschutes. The work has progressed several miles into the mountains.

J. M. Gale, Esq., has retired from the editorial charge of the Eugene City Republican.

I feel very well except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.
Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefited, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Remaining gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.
CERTIFICATE.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves circulation, not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such (I was then led to believe) as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and I became insensible to the agonies, I yet despised the miseries of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt seeking aid of a physician, and, by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God, I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
